HOUSEWORK

Too much housework wrecks women's nerves. And the constant care of children, day and night, is often too trying for even a strong woman. A haggard face tells the story of the overworked housewife and mother. Deranged menses, leucorrhœa and falling of the womb result from overwork. Every housewife needs a remedy to regulate her menses and to keep her sensitive female organs in perfect condition.

WINE OF CARDUI

is doing this for thousands of American women to-day. It cured Mrs. Jones and that is why she writes this frank letter:

Glendeane, Ky., Feb. 10, 1901.

I am so glad that your Wine of Cardui is helping me. I am feeling better than I have felt for years. I am doing my own work without any help, and I washed last week and was not one bit tired. That shows that the Wine is doing me good. I am getting fleshier than I ever was before, and sleep good and eat hearty. Before I began taking Wine of Cardui, I used to have to lay down five or six times every day, but now I do not think of lying down through the day.

A CLEVER RUSE

"It ain't no use in agoin' ag'in yer pa, Jennie. He's had his own way round here continual for more than thirty years, an' you'll jest hev to give in. No use talkin' at him. It only makes him wuss."

Poor little Mrs. Olcott had been accustomed during the whole of her married life to "jest give in," and her only chance of peace was in yielding to her selfishly determined husband and allowing him to carry his point without opposition.

Jennie was differently constituted. She inherited her father's strong will, and he had, much to his surprise, suddenly discovered an opposing force in his youngest child.

She had been away from home for nearly three years, this pretty brown haired girl with the determined face and graceful carriage, and the father secretly admired and almost feared her.

A wealthy and childless aunt in the city had besought Jennie to share her home, and Hiram Olcott's pretty daughter, though clinging to the farm with all its dear memories of childhood and childhood's joys, chose wisely when she yielded to her aunt's request.

It was better, far better for her, for even after her departure there were plenty of children to keep the miserly old farmer in a perpetual grumble about money matters.

It was May, and the country wore one glad smile, and Jennie hailed with delight the prospect of a visit to her home, assuming very willingly the responsibility of housekeeping while her two unmarried sisters attended the wedding of a cousin in a distant town.

This morning she was cooking, and with her sleeves rolled above her elbows stood beside the kitchen table. In one hand she held an earthen plate, while the clip, clip of a fork sounded noisily as she whipped some eggs to a froth.

"'Yer sisters hed to marry to suit him," wailed the nervous little woman, "an' you'll have to too. Ef you don't, there be awful fusses; so you'd jest better give in."

That morning the father had spoken to Jennie of a young farmer, whom he termed a "likely catch." She had expressed her opinion of him in so decided a way as to alarm Mr. Olcott for the safety of his much prized authority.

He was wont to speak of himself as [illegible] the auspices of the Congregational [illegible]hurch. It will be a rare treat for [illegible]ll, old and young. Adults, 25 [illegible]nts; children, 10 cents.

I tell you I won't have any city fellers a-follerin' you, an' if I ketch yer Aunt Kate makin' matches for you I'll just fetch you home from bein' a fine lady down there an' set you workin'."

Before Jennie could speak he had gone into the dining room, slamming the door behind him.

Tears of mortification and rage stood in her brown eyes and hot words leaped to her lips, but as she glanced down at the agonized face of the little woman beside her the fierce mood changed. She bent to kiss the pain drawn lips, murmuring: "Never mind, mother dear. I'll be patient for your sake."

"That's a good girl, Jennie," replied Mrs. Olcott, with a sigh of relief. "Try an' git along peaceable like, an' jest give in for the sake of quiet. Yer pa's gettin' wuss an' wuss."

Jennie wrote a partial account of what had occurred to her Aunt Kate, and this was the answer of that clever woman:

My Dear Niece—Your father needs managing, and I will undertake to do it. I have written to him to come down to the city and advise me about the sale of a piece of property and you need not be surprised at anything that happens.

Mrs. Kate Calding was the only one in the world who ever did understand her brother Hiram, and she had planned a clever little ruse to be played on the unsuspecting farmer.

Mr. Bryan, whom Jennie had confessed to her mother she cared a great deal for, was well suited to her. He had not yet declared his love, but it was not unguessed by the shrewd little maiden. To Mrs. Calding, however, he had opened his heart, and she bade him wait a little. She knew how prejudiced her brother was against all arrangements not conducted by himself and rightly concluded that he might put serious difficulty in the way of the young people.

After satisfying herself that the name of Jennie's lover was quite unknown to her brother she resolved to introduce him as a young man who would be a good match for Jennie, if only the girl would be wise enough to think so. Allowing him to believe they had never met, she trusted to his unequaled obstinacy to do the rest.

"I've wanted so much to talk with you about Jennie," said the lady as she and Hiram sat in her well appointed dining room the night of the arrival.

"Yes, an' I'm willin'. She ought to be settled," said the old man decidedly.

"It does not do, Hiram," began Mrs. Calding, watching the hard lined face intently, "to depend on a girl's choice, and"—

"Well, I guess it don't," he interrupted, with a sneer.

"There is a young man in town who, I know, admires Jennie, and if he should meet her I know something would come of it." Very quietly, yet with the utmost caution, she made this statement.

"Yes," was the answer; then she went on:

"Of course, it's so very uncertain, Hiram. You see, Jennie might refuse to have a word to say to him, and"—

"Now, Kate, look here," interrupted the thoroughly excited old man as he drew his chair nearer hers and emphasized his words with decisive gestures, "ef I like that young man I'll jest take him on home with me, an' I'd like to see Jennie tell him to go if I'm livin'."

Mrs. Calding was delighted at her [illegible] were the cause. Captain Boyes went to San Francisco Wednesday to buy a gasoline engine, and thinks he can pump water enough to accommodate his customers.

Something About Electric Lights

There are a few people in this town who are laboring under the false impression that with the big electric power company furnishing Sonoma with light they would get a better and cheaper service. It may be interesting to know that this is not so by any means. Take Petaluma, for instance. We know of one private residence in that city that was being taxed $8 per month for ten 16-candle power lights. The same service in this town would cost less than $4 80. In the case in question the charge was so excessive that the consumer complained to the big powers company, and was informed that the company could not furnish the service for less and if the rate was considered too high, why the service could be dispensed with. The consumer, seeing that a reduction could not be secured, went back to coal oil and tallow candles.

[illegible] she'd got to believe to him. It's the only way to do—jest make 'em mind, an' they'll git along."

They would not deceive him for anything, the happy young couple, but when he boasts they think with loving gratitude of clever Aunt Kate.

No Fitting Time.

There are many poor correspondents who would doubtless like to make the excuse given by a boy who was spending his first year at a boarding school.

The first letter, anxiously awaited by his parents, was not received for more than a week, and then it was short and to the point.

"Dear people," wrote the boy, "I don't believe I shall be able to send you many letters while I'm here. You see, when things are happening I haven't time, and when they aren't happening I haven't anything to write. You'll understand how it is, won't you, father? And, mother, you just ask father to explain to you how it is. So now I will say goodby, with love to all. In haste, George."

GOODBYE, GOD BLESS YOU!

I like the Anglo-Saxon speech
With its distinct revealings,
It seems to take a hold and reach
Far down into your feelings.

I don't object that men should air
The Gallic they have paid for
With "Au revoir!" "Adieu, ma chere,"
For that's what French was made for.

But when a crony takes your hand
At parting to address you,
He drops all foreign lingo and
He says "Goodbye, God bless you!"

This seems to be a sacred phrase,
With reverence impassioned;
A thing brought down from olden days,
Quaintly but nobly fashioned.

It well becomes an honest face,
A voice that's round and cheerful;
It stays the sturdy in his place,
It soothes the weak and fearful.

Into the porches of the ears
It steals with gentle unction,
And in your very heart appears
To work its gracious function.

And all day long with pleading song
It lingers to caress you.
I'm sure no human heart goes wrong
That's told "Goodbye, God bless you."

When You Think

Of the periodic pain which many women experience with every month it makes the gentleness and kindness always associated with womanhood seem to be almost a miracle. While in general no woman rebels against what she regards as a natural necessity there is no woman who would not gladly be free from this recurring period of pain.

Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong and sick women well, and gives them freedom from disease. It establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter, free. All correspondence strictly private and sacredly confidential. Write without fear and without fee to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Mrs. T. Dolan, of Madrid, Perkins Co., Nebr., writes: "I was cured of painful periods by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and his Compound Extract of Smart-Weed. I think Dr. Pierce's medicines the best in the world."

"Favorite Prescription" has the testimony of thousands of women to its complete cure of womanly diseases. Do not accept an unknown and unproved substitute in its place.

A CLUB TO PROMOTE DISCORD

The formation of Republican clubs in this county, we take it, is to promote harmony in the party and not discord. This reminds us that a Republican club was recently formed in this place by the would-be bosses, George W. Reed, political station agent of the California Northwestern Railway Company in this place, who is its President, and James Campbell, an ex-ward politician of San Francisco.

And we assert right here that at least two-thirds of the Republicans of Sonoma township have been barred out or given no chance to join this so called Republican club.

This club was not organized to promote harmony in the Republican party of Sonoma township, by any means, but for the purpose of giving Messrs. Reed and Campbell the control of local Republican politics. In promulgating their club Messrs. Reed and Campbell aimed to organize and officer it first and then invite Republicans to join afterwards to follow their blind leadership. The result is that this so-called Sonoma Valley Republican Club is all head and no tail—that is to say, Reed and his cohorts are the whole thing, while the rank and file of the Republicans of Sonoma, Agua Caliente, El Verano, Glen Ellen and San Luis precincts, while not members of this so-called Republican club, are to be whipped into supporting the delegates named by this monstrosity of discord in local Republican politics. Is it any wonder that the Democratic party expects to win out in the coming campaign in this county?

Why, only last week an emissary of this so called Republican club waited upon a prominent Republican candidate and assured him that there was no use in spending his money "among the boys" in Sonoma township to secure his nomination. That it would be a waste of money, as the club would name the delegates to the State and county conventions. That they would be elected, and woe-betide the candidate that refused to stand in.

Now, what do you think of that, Republicans of Sonoma township? Are you going to have your suffrages peddled out to the highest bidder? If so, you will support the nominees of this club, who, we will confess, may be innocent parties to the deal. If not, you will put up a ticket of your own and support it to a man at the Republican primaries next Monday.

The Republicans of the township have no particular objection to the nominees named for delegates by this self-styled Sonoma Republican club, but they do object to the manner in which those nominees were chosen. They feel that they ought to have a voice in the matter and do not care to be dictated to by a few would-be leaders who want to pose as the whole thing in matters political in this valley.

THERE is no denying the fact that the legislative and county ticket nominated last Tuesday by the Democrats of this county is a strong one. It therefore behooves the Republicans if they expect to win out in the coming campaign to select their very best men for places on the ticket. This cannot be done if the convention which convenes in Santa Rosa on September 3d is in any way tainted with bossism. The election of four years ago proved this. Sonoma is a Republican county, but of late years the Democrats have secured most of the important offices in the Court House. The reason of this is that, unlike the Republicans, they stand united, while the Republicans have been divided, owing to the efforts of a chosen few to run the whole thing. These have run things their way to be sure, but unfortunately that way led them into a hole in the ground in the last campaign. Now let us dig out by casting the bosses aside.

Robert P. Hill of Glen Ellen was elected a delegate to the Democratic State convention by the delegates to the county convention in session last Tuesday in Santa Rosa.

Hunting notices printed at this office. The very latest form. *

THE VINTAGE OUTLOOK

THE wine men all over the county are busily at work putting their cellars in shape for this year's crop and in anticipation of a large output are in many cases enlarging their facilities for handling grapes. The outlook is excellent for a good crop, although around Sebastopol some damage is reported from the hot sun, which scorched the grapes a few weeks ago.

A conservative estimate of probable prices ranges about $20 a ton. Last year as high as $26 a ton was paid for wine grapes. Although that figure is not likely to be touched this year, a much larger crop will tend to more than equalize matters.

The outlook for the wine industry was never brighter than at present. It is not due entirely to the short crops of the last few years. The concentration of capital has led to better business management, for one thing, and has prevented the abnormal fluctuations of recent years, while a steadily increasing demand, together with the diminished acreage due to the phylloxera, has prevented the demoralization of prices due to over production. And it must be remembered that the market is surely expanding. Cuba is bound to take a large amount of our light wines, while the Philippines and China must not be left out of the reckoning as increasing factors of a future demand.

POLITICAL POINTS.

Hon. Robert Howe of this place was chosen Chairman of the Democratic convention at Santa Rosa last Tuesday. He was also elected a delegate to the State convention.

The political card of Newton V. V. Smyth announcing that he will be a candidate for renomination at the hands of the Republicans for the office of County Surveyor will be found in another column. Mr. Symth is a genial gentleman and in every way qualified for the office. He has served the people faithfully and well the past four years and as he is one of the most popular Republicans in Sonoma county, and as he is almost certain to receive the nomination, the Democrats have very wisely refrained from nominating a man for the office to try conclusions with him.

Sonoma's two Superior Judges occupy a high place in the esteem and confidence of the people, without regard to politics. And well they should. It is not probable that a candidate can be named by our Democratic friends who is capable of approaching Judge Burnett or Judge Dougherty in personal popularity, or in what is decidedly of more importance—especial fitness and ability to fill these responsible twin positions. If present indications count for anything, Judges Burnett and Dougherty will be the unanimous choice of the convention for the approaching contest.—Healdsburg Tribune.

A San Francisco game dealer is to test the constitutionality of the game law by carrying a case against him to the Supreme Court. It is held, and it seems rightly, that the law is a discrimination against every man who cannot afford to go shooting or become a member of a gun club. That a man killing a deer cannot sell any part of it to one unable to go hunting, will strike the average man as unfair, to say the least. If the highest tribunal of the State decides that the law shall stand there will be a loud clamar for its repeal at the next session of the Legislature.—Cloverdale Reveille.

HEAD NOISES CEASE IMMEDIATELY.
F. A. WERMAN, OF BALTIMORE, SAYS:

BALTIMORE, Md., March 30, 1901.

Gentlemen:—Being entirely cured of deafness, thanks to your treatment, I will now give you a full history of my case, to be used at your discretion.
About five years ago my right ear began to sing, and this kept on getting worse, until I lost my hearing in this ear entirely.
I underwent a treatment for catarrh, for three months, without any success, consulted a number of physicians, among others, the most eminent ear specialist of this city, who told me that only an operation could help me; and even that only temporarily, that the head noises would then cease, but the hearing in the affected ear would be lost forever.
I then saw your advertisement accidentally in a New York paper, and ordered your treatment. After I had used it only a few days according to your directions, the noises ceased, and to-day, after five weeks, my hearing in the diseased ear has been entirely restored. I thank you heartily and beg to remain
Very truly yours,
F. A. WERMAN, 730 S. Broadway, Baltimore, Md.

REPUBLICANS CALL THEIR CONVENTION

Primary Election Monday, August 18—State Convention Aug. 23, and County Convention September 3

The primary election for delegates to the Republican State convention will take place on Monday, August 18. Twenty-two delegates will be chosen in this county to attend the State convention, which will be held at Sacramento on Monday, August 25.

At the primary election there will also be chosen twenty-two delegates to the Republican Congressional convention of the Second Congressional district, to be held at Sacramento on Monday, August 25.

Delegates will also be chosen for the Republican county convention, which will be held at Santa Rosa on Wednesday, September 3, for the purpose of nominating a complete county and legislative ticket.

The number of delegates from each precinct to the county convention is based on the vote cast for Republican presidential electors at the last general election, viz: One delegate for each 25 votes cast and one delegate for each major fraction of 25 votes. This apportionment entitles Sonoma precinct to four delegates. Agua Caliente gets two delegates, Glen Ellen gets three and San Luis precinct four delegates.

All voters who express an honest intention of voting for the Republican candidates at the ensuing election are eligible to vote at the primary election.

STRUCK IT RICHER THAN EVER

Chas. J. Anderson's El Dorado No. 29 Now Paying $25 per Pan.

Charles J. Anderson, the owner of the celebrated gold mine No. 29, on El Dorado creek, near Dawson, has struck a pay streak of gravel in his mine this season that is fabulously rich. Every pan of gravel so far taken out has averaged $25, and a letter from Dawson, written by an employe in the mine, says that the season's run will net Mr. Anderson between $800,000 and $900,000.

Mr. Anderson has just installed the very latest improved pumping machinery in the mine, which will enable him to work it with greater profit than heretofore. The mine, known all over the world as El Dorado No. 29, has been accounted in the past as one of the richest placer claims in the Klondike, and its output has been between $5,000,000 and $6,000,000. Until this season it was supposed that the richest ground in the mine had been worked, but this latest pay streak of gravel is far richer than any that has yet been found in this famous gold producing mine.

Mr. Anderson expects to winter in Dawson and will not return to California until next season.

Brilliant Electrical Storm

Sonoma was treated to a severe electrical storm last Sunday morning, with heavy peals of thunder and vivid flashes of lightning, and it was a very sound sleeper who was not aroused by the tumult of the elements. "Thunderstorms," as they are called, are quite common in the Eastern States and are generally accompanied by a deluge of rain. In California, however, they are infrequent and though of a spectacular character at times, and with an affinity for electric power houses, do very little damage. Although the reverberations of thunder were heard for miles around and the effect was rather startling, no damage resulted in this neighborhood. Around Forestville damage resulted from lightning striking telegraph poles, but generally little harm was done and the rainfall was slight.

Pictures of Our Own County

The baths belonging to Captain Boyes are dry. This was discovered Tuesday morning, and it is thought the two earthquakes Monday night were the cause. Captain Boyes went to San Francisco Wednesday to buy a gasoline engine, and thinks he can pump water enough to accommodate his customers.

YOU GUESS.

Something About Electric Lights

There are a few people in this town who are laboring under the false impression that with the big electric power company furnishing Sonoma with light they would get a better and cheaper service. It may be interesting to know that this is not so by any means. Take Petaluma, for instance. We know of one private residence in that city that was being taxed $8 per month for ten 16-candle power lights. The same service in this town would cost less than $4 80. In the case in question the charge was so excessive that the consumer complained to the big powers company, and was informed that the company could not furnish the service for less and if the rate was considered too high, why the service could be dispensed with. The consumer, seeing that a reduction could not be secured, went back to coal oil and tallow candles.

Sonoma's Woman's Club may be all right, but our town has a woman who dispatched a large rat with a "club" in shorter time than your folks could think.

Quite an exciting runaway occurred Wednesday. Joseph Kiser's prize team took fright while standing at the Southern Pacific depot, loaded with hay bales, and ran to—where do you generally stop, Joe? The driver proved to be an athlete.

DROPPED DEAD

Sudden Ending of Peter Malone

Peter Malone, for many years a resident of this valley, dropped dead at his home in Petaluma last Tuesday afternoon. The cause of his sudden taking off was neuralgia of the heart.

The deceased resided on his farm between this place and Glen Ellen for nearly a quarter of a century. A few years ago he sold his ranch and removed to Petaluma.

The deceased was a native of Ireland and had reached the ripe old age of 81 years.

A YOUNG LADY'S LIFE SAVED

At Panama, Colombia, by Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy.

Dr. Charles H. Utter, a prominent physician of Panama, Colombia, in a recent letter states: "Last March I had as a patient a young lady sixteen years of age, who had a very bad attack of dysentery. Everything I prescribed for her proved ineffectual and she was growing worse every hour. Her parents were sure she would die. She had become so weak that she could not turn over in bed. What to do at this critical moment was a study for me, but I thought of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy and as a last resort prescribed it. The most wonderful result was effected. Within eight hours she was feeling much better; inside of three days she was upon her feet and at the end of one week was entirely well." For sale by F. Duhring.

ALL OVER WITH AT ONCE

Gets Married and Made a Citizen at Same Time

John Bagialli of Sonoma recently decided to get married, and having found a good looking girl similarly inclined, the two came to Santa Rosa Saturday to secure the necessary license and have the ceremony performed, says the Press-Democrat.

Bagialli has also been thinking of becoming a citizen, it appears, for while buying a license he told Cupid Mosley to make him out a set of citizen's papers and wrap it all up together in one package. This was done and Bagialli later appeared before Judge Burnett and took the oath of allegiance. He formerly recognized Victor Emanuel II of Italy as his king.

After the license had been secured the fair bride-elect, whose name was Miss Clarinda Bendetti, inquired for Judge Dougherty. She said that she had been told that he would probably marry them cheap, in view of this being the fall of the year. The judge was out, however, and so the happy couple departed for Judge Brown's office where they doubtless struck a bargain, for as they emerged hand in hand the smiles that illuminated their countenances as they entered the dingy court room were in no way diminished.

This marriage makes just 1808 ceremonies which Judge Brown has performed during his incumbency as Justice of the Peace of Santa Rosa. He holds the record in that line, and would rather marry a couple than eat—at least he has never refused the one, while he has the other.

GREEDINESS AND HASTE.

Two Evils That Destroy Thousands of Men Every Year.

Beecher's advice to his son makes good reading:

You must not get into debt. Avoid debt as you would the devil. Make it a fundamental rule: Cash or nothing.

Make few promises. Religiously observe the smallest promise. A man who means to keep his promise can't afford to make many.

When working for others, sink yourself out of sight; seek their interest. Make yourself necessary to those who employ you by industry, fidelity and scrupulous integrity. Selfishness is fatal.

Hold yourself responsible for a higher standard than anybody else expects of you. Demand more of yourself than anybody expects of you. Keep your own standard high. Never pity yourself. Be a hard master to yourself, but lenient to everybody else.

Concentrate your force on your own business; do not turn off. Be constant, steadfast, persevering.

The art of making one's fortune is to spend nothing. In this country any intelligent and industrious young man may become rich if he stops all leaks and is not in a hurry. Do not make haste; be patient.

Do not speculate or gamble. Steady, patient industry is both the surest and the safest way. Greediness and haste are two devils that destroy thousands every year.

Headdressing Among the Romans.

The ancient Romans were most simple in their attire and so continued for a long period, but after a time fashion came to reign supreme among them, just as it does with us today.

In the early Roman days the women, following eastern traditions, were seldom seen abroad, and when they did go out wore their faces veiled, but as richness and luxury increased the household labors were delegated to slaves, and dress and show became the chief object of ambition.

The simplicity of their home life and the number of bakers and cook shops enabled even the poorer classes to spend much of their time in the streets, market places and at the public games.

It is noticeable that this day the poorest Roman woman, no matter how coarse her garments, will invariably have her hair neat, plaited and elaborately coiled and fastened with showy beaded pins, which care of her bountiful tresses she derives directly from her ancestress of ancient times, for the ancients spent more time in the elaborate dressing of the hair than in any other adornment.—Spare Moments.

The Barnacle Goose.

Down until the middle of the eighteenth century many supposed to be educated people in the world actually believed that the barnacle or brant goose was hatched from the parasitic shell known to conchologists as the barnacle or as scientifically the barnecula. Holinshed, the English historian who flourished just before Shakespeare's appearance in English literature, in writing of the barnacle goose says, "I have seen these barnacles hanging upon roots, timbers, etc., with the feathers hanging out of the shell two inches." Drayton's "Herbal," published seventeen years after the death of Holinshed, refers to the wonderful barnacle goose as follows: "In the north of Scotland there are certain trees whereon do grow shellfishes, which, falling into the water, do become fowles whom we call barnacles and in the north of England brant geese; in Lancashire, tree geese or shell geese."

Cows on the Roof.

The funniest thing yet discovered in the management of cows is the Peruvian fashion of keeping them on top of the house. The big rambling houses of Lima have adobe roofs, flat as a board floor, and there are hundreds of them in the suburbs of that proud old city which serve the purposes of a barnyard. The mules and horses are housed in the lower rooms of the house—for in Spanish America it is not generally the fashion for humans to inhabit the ground floor—while on the top fowls, pigs and goats are raised, and the cow spends her days there, having been carried up when a calf.

Bunkered.

Robert P. Hill of Ohio tells a story [illegible] elected a delegate to the Democratic [illegible] secretaryship was by the delegates [illegible] the session. "You understand," in session last [illegible] again, "that we want a secretary thoroughly accustomed to managing men."

"In that case," answered the applicant sadly, "I'm afraid it's not the man you want, but my wife."

He was bunkered.—London Globe.

Superstitions About Crows.

There are perhaps few who have not heard of crows that "one is lucky, two is unlucky, three is health, four is wealth, five sickness and six death." The unluckiness of one living crow is of ancient date, since the Greeks believed that if such a bird appeared at a wedding breakfast there would be a divorce, to avert which all roared out, "Maiden, scare away the crow!" But of far greater antiquity was the belief that if the one crow were dead the evil portent also perished, since, according to Horus Apollo, it signified extreme old age or a very long life. According to what Hesiod tells us, the crow lives nine times as long as a man.

Origin of the Word "Money."

In tracing out the origin or derivation of the word "money" you find it is from the Roman word "Moneta," because the first regular coins of the Romans were "struck" in the temple of Juno Moneta. The word "coin" is no doubt from the Latin "cuneus," meaning a die or stamp. Many coins are so called from their original weight, as the English "pound," the French "livre" and the Italian "lira."

Talleyrand's Clever Retort.

Napoleon described Talleyrand as one whose face would preserve a smile while he was being kicked from behind. Talleyrand had his revenge. "It is a pity," he said, "that so great a man should have such bad manners." And the mot will cling to Napoleon forever. Macaulay has said the same thing in comparing Cæsar with Napoleon. "But, after all, Cæsar was a gentleman."

A Cure for Cholera Infantum.

"Last May," says Mrs. Curtis Baker of Bookwalter, Ohio, "an infant child of our neighbor's was suffering from cholera infantum. The doctor had given up all hopes of recovery. I took a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa to the house, telling them I felt sure it would do good if used according to directions. In two days' time the child had fully recovered, and is now (nearly a year since) a vigorous, healthy girl. I have recommended this remedy frequently and have never known it to fail in any single instance." For sale by F. Duhring.

A Girl Turns Detective.

Lodi Sentinel: A. P. Bellows of Acampo has been shipping fruit East and the commission merchants constantly wired him: "Fruit in poor condition. Sells for 60 cents a crate." This set his daughter, Miss Lillian, to thinking, and she enclosed a note in one of the boxes asking what shape the fruit arrived in and what the purchaser of this particular package paid. Before many days Miss Lillian received a letter from a woman in New York city who had secured the box and it read: "Fruit in fine condition. Paid $4 95 a crate." This was enough for Mr. Bellows, and now another firm is handling his fruit and he is receiving tiptop prices.

The wineries around Livermore have agreed on a uniform rate of $30 a ton for white grapes and $20 a ton for the black varieties. The grapes which come under the black schedule are: Cabernet, Carignan, Mataro, Petit Bouschet, Zinfandel, Petit Pinot and Meunier, while the white varieties in the $30 schedule are: Burger, Folle Blanche, Columbar, Semillon, Sauvignon Blanc and Muscadelle du Bordelaise. The three last named are those which produce the highest type of wines.

The unusually hot weather which prevailed the latter part of July did considerable damage to Tokay and Muscat grapes in some parts of the State, although where the foliage was heavy no harm was done. The crop will be large this year, however, in spite of some unfavorable conditions.

BEETLE JEWELRY.

Not alone Nicaragua but all of the Central American republics are wonderfully rich in insect life. Both butterflies and beetles are marked by the most magnificent colorings known to entomology. The aborigines utilized many of the beetles for decorative purposes, and their Spanish conquerors adopted the beautiful ornaments.

The favorite beetles the writer has found to be of three classes. One is about the same shape and size as the Egyptian scarab, though a trifle flatter and very much stronger. It is coated with a green enamel of metallic luster, which looks like a gem from some other planet. The Indians cure the beetle by drying and smoking and mount it with golden legs. This is set upon a disk of white stone, carnelian, milk quartz or even porcelain, which in turn is rimmed with gold. This is employed as a brooch, cuff button or breastpin. Sometimes the beetle is mounted upon a thin plate of gold or silver and is used as an earring.

The second class of beetles are of the same general outline as the tumble bug, but their wing cases are of rich, changeable purple, blue and green, with metallic luster. The tint varies with the angle at which light strikes the surface. They are not as strong as the scarab and are employed for making necklaces and bracelets. Three or four are fastened together so as to form a bead, and a number of these beads are strung upon elastic cord or gold wire. When around a snowy wrist or neck, they make a wonderfully striking display of color and light. —New York Post.

Injurious Employments.

Nitric acid is employed as a solvent for tin in making dyes, by engravers to etch copper, in the manufacture of guncotton, in the gilding trades and in preparing the felt for hats. The fumes of it are more irritating to human throats and lungs than is a red rag to a bull, and they cause no end of bronchial and catarrhal affections. The workers in various branches of trade suffer from the fumes of ammonia. They cause inflammation of the eyes and a peculiar skin disease, which it has been suggested may be due to the formation of a soap by the union of the ammonia with the liquid of the lubricating skin glands. If that be true, every man could be a peramblating soap factory. Men employed in guano works become deaf, and the skin of their noses and foreheads is peculiarly discolored by the ammonia. Their strength fails, and they suffer from anæmia.

Fruit of a Dream.

"Corresponding to the Greek temples where the gods appeared to sleeping visitors and gave them advice, there is today in China near Swatow a place called Lily mountain, on the top of which is the shrine of a god known as the Common Ancestor," says a writer in Ainslee's. "Here many persons go after a three days' fast and pass the ninth night of the ninth month awaiting prophetic dreams. A scholar thus slept and had a vision of a man bringing him a pair of boots. Since boots are worn by none but graduates and officials, he inferred that he should soon get his literary degree. But years passed without that honor, and then he was attacked by a disease of the feet, and they were painted with tar as a remedy. Here he suddenly perceived the fulfillment of the dream—'my boots at last.'"

Blue and Other Eyes.

An optician is thus quoted in an American paper: "Nine-tenths of the railroad men, pilots and men in whose business keenness and correctness of vision are a necessary adjunct possess blue eyes. Haven't you ever noticed the penetrating quality of a glance that an azure tinted eye seems to have? The cold, steady look from such an eye appears to read you through and through. In a great many years of practice I've discovered that very few blue eyed people are compelled to wear glasses. Blue eyes are very attractive, but brown eyes are the most beautiful. Intellectuality is usually denoted by gray eyes, and hazel eyes indicate a talent for music. The commonest eye is the gray eye, and the rarest is violet."

Death's Parting.

With regard to the sharpest and most melting sorrow, that which arises from the loss of those whom we have loved with tenderness, it may be observed that friendship between mortals can be contracted on no other terms than that one must some time mourn for the other's death, and this grief will always yield to the survivor one consolation proportionate to his affliction, for the pain, whatever it be, that he himself feels his friend has escaped. —Johnson.

HEAD NOISES CEASE IMMEDIATELY.
F. A. WERMAN, OF BALTIMORE, SAYS:
BALTIMORE, Md., March 30, 1901.
Gentlemen:—Being entirely cured of deafness, thanks to your treatment, I will now give you a full history of my case, to be used at your discretion.
About five years ago my right ear began to sing, and this kept on getting worse, until I lost my hearing in this ear entirely.
I underwent a treatment for catarrh, for three months, without any success, consulted a number of physicians, among others, the most eminent ear specialist of this city, who told me that only an operation could help me, and even that only temporarily, that the head noises would then cease, but the hearing in the affected ear would be lost forever.
I then saw your advertisement accidentally in a New York paper, and ordered your treatment. After I had used it only a few days according to your directions, the noises ceased, and to-day, after five weeks, my hearing in the diseased ear has been entirely restored. I thank you heartily and beg to remain Very truly yours,
